757509318	2nd SEM.	6 ECTS	Computational Chemistry Click for the detailed module description	Pérez Bernal, Francisco B. francisco.perez@dfaie.uhu.es	Faculty of Experimental Sciences. BS in Chemistry (4th year) The present module aims to introduce students to some basic techniques for scientific programming and data analysis, working with free software apps in a GNU/Linux operating system environment. This is a very practical COURSE where students will carry out basic calculations, preferably in problems of molecular or atomic structure, though depending on their background the development of applications in other fields is also possible. Information about schedules will be updated shortly
757509315	2nd SEM.	6 ECTS	Introduction to Research Methods Click for the detailed module description	Muñoz Molina, José María jose.molina@dqcm.uhu.es	 The course provides practical skills needed to establish the current state of the art of a topic, identify research needs, conduct library and information search, develop research proposals and communicate effectively scientific results. The COURSE is useful for students who want to enter the field of research, learn the use of management tools for scientific documentation and improve writing and speaking communications skills. Information about schedules will be updated shortly
757709203	2nd SEM.	6 ECTS	Statistics and Data Analysis Click for the detailed module description	Serrano Czaia, Isabel iserrano@uhu.es	Faculty of Experimental Sciences. BS in Geology (1st year) This course starts from basic statistical knowledge to advanced statistical techniques that facilitate the design and analysis of experiments. It aims at applying interesting models in Environmental Sciences and Geology. This COURSE is developed by combining theoretical and practical classes in the classroom, with classes of application of statistical techniques that are studied on real data in the computer classroom. Information about schedules will be updated shortly

BS in Geology and Environmental Sciences (4th year) The main objective of this course is to provide students with a general knowledge of mineral resources, from their exploration and exploitation to their most important applications and markets. Information about schedules will be updated shortly
757709213	2nd SEM.	6 ECTS	Environmental Hydrology and Soil Science Click for the detailed module description	Olías, Manuel manuel.olias@dgyp.uhu.es	Faculty of Experimental Sciences. BS in Environmental Sciences (3rd year) This COURSE provides the student with the basic knowledge necessary to understand two very important issues in any environmental study: soil and water. The main problems affecting these resources (pollution, water overexploitation, soil erosion, etc.) are also addressed. Information about schedules will be updated shortly
757509110	2nd SEM.	6 ECTS	Crystallography and Mineralogy Click for the detailed module description	Pérez López, Rafael rafael.perez@dgeo.uhu.es	Faculty of Experimental Sciences BA in Chemistry (1st year) General knowledge of crystalline materials and, particularly, of mineral raw materials. Information about schedules will be updated shortly
757509208	2nd SEM.	6 ECTS	Biomolecules Click for the detailed module description	Garbayo Nores, Inés garbayo@.uhu.es	Faculty of Experimental Sciences. BS in Chemistry (2nd year) Biomolecules is the first unit related to Biochemistry studied in the second semester of 2nd year of Bachelor's degree of Chemistry. This unit will cover the structure, reactivity and properties of biomolecules and the building blocks from which these molecules are assembled. Carbohydrates, lipids, proteins and nucleic acids represent essential biomolecules present in all biological systems. Interactions between biomolecules will be covered and the chemical tools for studying biomolecules highlighted. Information about schedules will be updated shortly
